About BearJam

BearJam is a London-based, award-winning video production company working with global brands including Netflix, Oracle Red Bull Racing, Just Eat, The FA, and Knight Frank. We specialise in bold storytelling across filmed, animated, and emerging formats.

As we expand our in-house capabilities, we're investing in generative AI as a creative tool – not a gimmick – to deliver imaginative, high-impact content for our clients.

Overview of the Role

We're seeking a Senior AI Video Specialist to help define and deliver BearJam's AI-powered video capabilities. This role blends creative leadership with hands-on execution, working across commercial campaigns, branded content, and experimental formats.

You'll play a key role in shaping workflows, guiding creative direction, and helping both our team and clients understand what's genuinely possible with generative AI today.

What You'll Do

- Lead the creative application of generative AI across video projects
- Design, test, and refine AI-driven video and post-production workflows
- Create high-quality prompts and visual outputs across image-to-video and text-to-video platforms
- Integrate AI visuals into live-action, animation, and VFX pipelines
- Oversee editing, finishing, sound design, and visual polish of AI-driven content
- Collaborate with directors, producers, editors, and freelancers to deliver standout work
- Advise clients and internal teams on the creative potential and limitations of Gen AI
- Ensure ethical, secure, and responsible use of AI tools and data

Who You Are (Skills & Qualities)
